The Reformation Revisited

A Reexamination of what the European Reformation Was, How It Unfolded, and Why It Had a Lasting Effect in Europe

The conference will have an ON-LINE format

The Reformation Revisited conference will have an on-line format, which means that those participants who cannot travel to Emanuel University in Oradea, Romania, can sign-up for an online presentation of the papers.

Each on-line presentation will have a maximum of 15 minutes, plus 10 minutes for questions. The on-line papers will be presented first. After the presentation, the scholars are free to sign out or remain on-line for the following presentations.

The time allowed for the presentations will vary, depending on the number of on-line papers. We would like the scholars to have more time for interactions, because we would like the students to observe the way debates are held.

Also, we will make sure that all the papers will be printed for the day of the conference.

The conference will be held using Skype. If you have any question regarding the conference, please contact CIPRIAN SIMUT, PhD (Skype name: ciprian.simut).

concurred into creating the political, social, economic, and religious environment in which the event labels “The Reformation” could appear and develop.

Emanuel University of Oradea (www.emanuel.ro) together with the “Ethics and Society” Research Center and Refo500 are organizing the first bi-annual conference dedicated to the Reformation. The “Reformation Revisited” conference aims to offer young researchers, as well as to those with a lifetime experience, the opportunity to tell the story of the Reformation in a new, fresh light. The researchers are free to choose any subject, as long as it is connected to the issue of the Reformation. The purpose of this “freedom” is to offer the reader a wide range of various subjects, in order to form a deeper perspective on the complexities of the Reformation.

The conference aims to be the first of a series of bi-annual conferences that have the specific purpose of re-analyzing the Reformation in order to present a colorful, yet accurate and relevant perspective on what the Reformation was, and why would it still be relevant today.

We will work closely with the authors in order to publish all the presented papers in the conference proceedings, provided the authors collaborate in adjusting the papers in accordance to the editor’s requirements.

The conference will take place at Emanuel University of Oradea, in Romania. For further information about our university and its location, please consult: www.emanuel.ro.
